

Bozeman's Path to the Future

As Bozeman continues to grow and change, the City aims to do so with a clear orientation to the future.

Managing and performing City tasks while navigating the ever-changing environment requires great planning. So how can Bozeman plan for the unknown? What are community preferences in prioritizing needs? How does Bozeman help sustain the quality of life our community so highly values? In short, how do we align our community compass?

The City of Bozeman has launched the Bozeman Strategic Plan to help answer these questions. This project will identify the community's preferred long-range future vision, and create a living, breathing Strategic Plan to help the City support it.

During this project, community conversations and activities will focus around where the community would like to be as we look 20, even 30, years into the future.

Your input is important!

Community input and support is vital to this project. We will seek community feedback at three milestones:

- 1 Community Vision Kickoff Workshop
- 2 Draft Vision
- 3 Draft Strategic Plan

Visit www.bozeman.net/strategicplan for community event dates and locations.

Schedule

This project will have a community kickoff event in June 2016 to share information about the project and gain feedback from the community about the future of Bozeman. The project will run through October 2016 with opportunities to provide input at various stages throughout the project.
